THE POWER OF THE LAND IS IN STRANGE HANDS

"I should like to manage some of my own great national affairs," says Uncle Sam, "but we don't trust our government, and so the trusts exploit us."

The work that the Government
ought to do is done by individuals who have usurped
the natural powers of government.

THE thoughts of human beings have always been fixed upon power—and usually in fear of the power. The curse of humanity from time immemorial has been POWER ABUSED.

The first men dreaded the power of huge, wild animals. They killed the animals to curtail that power and preserve themselves.

Later generations feared the power and cruelty of tyrants. They killed the tyrants to protect themselves. The list of tyrants in history is not much longer than the list of tyrants murdered.

Always, from the beginning, and right up to our own days, the mass of the people have feared power and the exercise of it.

The establishment of this government was an attempt to regulate power and minimize its evil effects.

The people had long suffered from abuse of the power of government. That abuse drove them to war, to great sacrifices, much bloodshed.

When the time came for them to establish their own national system of life they decided that power should be held in check; THAT THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA SHOULD BE FOREVER MADE SAFE FROM POWER'S ABUSE.

Kings through all history had abused their power, ill treated their people. THEREFORE, KINGS SHOULD BE ABOLISHED IN THIS COUNTRY.

Constitutional governments, like that of England, had oppressed the masses; corrupt ministers had perverted the laws or brought about evil legislation.

Therefore, the new born American nation decided to limit even the constitutional powers of government. They made up their minds that they would free themselves from danger by setting precise limits to those things that the government, the President and the Cabinet could do.

The various State governments are based upon this same desire, TO MAKE ABUSE IMPOSSIBLE.

Every State limits the powers of its own government. Every great city government is hedged on every side with restrictions and rules limiting its possibilities of action.

The people of America, in mapping out a new form of government, meant well. Their plan to destroy the evil possibilities of power, by taking power from the government, would have been admirable, had it been feasible.

BUT THE PEOPLE FORGOT THAT POWER CANNOT BE DESTROYED, THAT IT MUST EXIST SOMEWHERE.

In the formation of the trusts the corruption of politics, the monopoly of natural wealth, we learn that power is bound to exist somewhere, that its location may be shifted, THAT IT CANNOT BE DESTROYED.

We have taken power from the old kings. We have such kings no longer. But we have a new king of our own manufacture—A MONEY KING—more powerful than any constitutional monarch now reigning.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller, for instance, through the power of money, can pass in the various States the laws that he needs. The King of England is powerless to control law-making in his country.

Mr. Rockefeller, aided by Senator Aldrich, his son's father-in-law, backed by the power of the Standard Oil, shapes and controls legislation at the Capitol. He is much more powerful in the Senate and House of Representatives than is the German Emperor in his Parliament.

The power of the steel trust to control the American tariff exceeds in that direction infinitely the power of any Constitutional sovereign.

The people in their wisdom cut down the power of government —which in a republic means THEIR OWN POWER—and now they find the power which they took from themselves in the possession of those that have the money.

Everybody in the great city must have gas. The wisdom that shapes our government says that the city must not make its own gas.

Therefore, the citizens that use the gas are at the mercy of those who have got the power that is denied to the city.

The laws, or distortion of the laws, taken the public streets from the peoples and gives them to an outside power, to use or abuse as it pleases.

Our great national government must not manufacture its own armor plate—that would be outside of its power—therefore, it is at the mercy of the Steel Trust—which charges the government, which protects a price for armor plate, double the amount charged Brazil or any foreign country.

Humanity learns its lessons very slowly, and learns a very little at a time.

We learned the danger of tyrants many centuries ago, and killed them off.

We have learned since the danger of kings. In this country we have abolished them. In Europe their hands are tied. We have worked in our republic to make power harmless. We have not yet succeeded.

Suspicious of kings and of government itself, we have put the power into the hands of great unscrupulous individuals.

This cartoon presents fairly the situation in America today. Uncle Sam, with his dignified eagle, represents the government—the people.

He looks over a high fence of governmental limitations, and gazes down upon the field of national industrial activity.

Men of great organizing ability, Rockefeller, Morgan, Gould, Harriman, and their type, control and direct the activities of millions of their fellow citizens.

Formerly the people depended upon the government for such prosperity and happiness as they had. Now they depend upon these great men, who have taken into their hands the real power of ruling.

The old man Rockefeller, on the nearest hill of gold, is the great element of power. He controls the price of many necessities. He and his friends decide all the really weighty questions in a nation that, like our own, deals principally with industrial problems. Fortunately, the power which the people look from the government is not entirely in the hands of money intelligently directed.

The labor unions have some of the power. Their efforts offset the power of money, and maintain a sort of equilibrium. But it is all on a false basis, strikes, quarrels, lockouts, are features of the effort to adjust the industrial questions fairly.

What is to be done? Nothing, except to continue experimenting in the future, as we have in the past, and using our wisdom for steady improvement, as we have used it hitherto.

Our trusts, our present industrial condition, teaches us THAT POWER CANNOT BE ABOLISHED. It must exist somewhere. SOMEBODY MUST EXERCISE IT.

If we find that the control of a national monopoly is in the hands of one man, and that he has too much power, that power must revert to the government, to the people.

If we find that other ONE MAN or ALL OF THE PEOPLE must control the nation's railroads, we must arrange our plan of government so that the people will possess the power which employs millions of men, and would mean, in the hands of one man, the control of a nation.

Four of the abuse of the government power make us take strength from the government and put it in the hands of selfish individuals.

A realization of this new danger will cause us gradually to withdraw the ruling power from these individuals and deposit it once more in the hands of the people.

This new arrangement will give us new problems, new difficulties. Those we shall meet as well as we can, struggling along in the future, as we have in the past. AND, FORTUNATELY, ALWAYS IMPROVING A LITTLE.

If you believe that too much of the power of government has been taken from the people, and been given to the few, think and work intelligently and conservatively at the problem of putting back the nation's force where it ought to be, IN THE HANDS OF THE NATION.

"THE PEEK-A-BOO GIRL" COMES TO TOWN IN FILMY LACE AND COBWEB STOCKINGS

Elusive as Her Dress is Suggestive, Her Coming Has Stirred Up a Sensation—Minister Tabooes, Saleswoman Defends

By Kate Shockton.

"THE Peek-a-boo Girl" is here. You can see her anywhere the eye falls, on the streets, in the shops, in the cars, in the parks, in the theatres, and in the churches.

Who is this "Peek-a-boo Girl"? We have heard so much about, and what is she like?

Why, she is the girl who wears those bewitching, tantalizing, heretofore so alluring and fascinating, but—well, you can see her yourself any day.

And she wears the talismanic walking skirt and the dainty open-work lace-trimmed stockings which are so often seen and photographed over to store windows.

All this is of consequence. A war is on against the "Peek-a-boo Girl" in New England. Already the pretty school teachers of New Bedford who wear the transparent waists have been admonished by Superintendent Hatch and exhortated by the teachers of Boston more than thirty.

That is a vital question. The dainty who herself will tell you he has come, has been seen, and has departed. Almost to a girl they declare that so long as lace-trimmed waists are fashionable they will wear them.

Where is the "Peek-a-boo Girl"? She is anywhere, everywhere. She is in the factory, the school room, on the street and in the smart set.

This is her correct attire, given by a leading modiste of Boston:

A blouse of sheer muslin or tulle with a yoke of point de Venise or Val lace. These blouse waists may be made entirely of Rouen or Cluny lace, with a pretty skirt underslipping to the ankle line. A sailor-made skirt cut walking length. Tan hose or silk lace work stockings, with tan shoes of low-heel, and with a large toe line.

AS ELUSIVE AS HER DRESS IS SUGGESTIVE

The girl is so elusive that her dress is suggestive. Observe one of these wearers of the "Peek-a-boo" waists. She is well poised. Before she met you her attitude told her she was feeling a little about to stand her; then, like a will-o'-the-wisp, she has disappeared a few moments. This girl is a paradox.

For that matter, are they all not? This is a composite of the clever woman, the girl and the coquette. Anyway, she is delightfully feminine and you just can't help liking her.

It was only a short while ago that Father Malley, a priest of South Boston, recently inspected the girls of the parish to wear the very summer waists.

They were, he commented there and there, but he was disappointed. He said that they were not fashionable, decent and beautiful.

Nevertheless, the pretty South Boston girls had added their "Peek-a-boo" as one of the belongings of a departed friend.

What do men in general think of this "Peek-a-boo Girl"? They say she is adorable, always the type of girl who is interesting and charming. They say that while she is never the type who is often the most conventional and starting would be the worst only at any rate it would be worth while to make a character study of this girl.

AFTER 60 YEARS OF CRIME, SAYS HONESTY BEST POLICY

Charles Stewart, Hotel and Bank Worker, Resolves at 77 to Begin Life Anew, This Time in Role of Honest Man

A criminal life does not pay. Honesty is the best policy. This is the conclusion which Charles E. Stewart, aged seventy-seven, has come to after sixty years of life "on the level," as he calls it.

He thinks modern inventions give the ready Bertillon system enables to make the life of the transgressor bitter.

Stewart was a gambler in his teens on the Mississippi river boats and later crossed the Atlantic many times in the card rooms of the ocean liners. For years after that he "worked" hotels, with occasional forays in the forged check line. For the four or five years before he was arrested, when he was also in the same sort of employment, among the great and small of the city.

LESSONS ONE CROOK LEARNED IN 60 YEARS

Criminal life does not pay. Honesty best policy. Modern contrivances give authorities an advantage over the crooks.

Photograph no good as aid in running down a fugitive. Bertillon system the only sure thing.

There is one thing that I will tell you to be sure about," said Stewart to the reporter, "and that is that I am through with the life of the crook. I have engaged in all my sins with my wife and with five boys and I will attempt to secure some sort of employment among the great and small of the city."

SUNDAY FISHING IS AN AID TO RELIGION, SAYS PASTOR

Rev. A. B. Shields, of South Boston, Believes Men Who Angle in the Proper Way Will Turn to the Church

"If my congregation came to me after the Sunday morning service and said, 'We're going fishing this afternoon,' I would answer: 'Good! I wish I were going with you!'"

The statement was made to a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter by Rev. A. B. Shields, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, East Fourth street, South Boston.

"But a man to whom I had previously made this statement said," continued Mr. Shields, "you have demanded that the man must attend church before he sees his outdoor recreation."

"That I haven't demanded," said Mr. Shields. "The man who goes fishing in the right spirit will turn to church sooner or later. And he won't turn to the church as he has been continually degrading and upbraiding him for seeking his innocent amusement."

Sunday is Only Chance.

"The fishermen feel lonely the narrow view that is taken of his sportsman's desire. In many cases Sunday has been the only day that he could angle."

He is the minister that doesn't run against his sport and the church that looks upon it as a hindrance.

"Even if he isn't at church he will learn of the pastor who doesn't believe he is wholly lost if he spends his Sunday fishing. And just as he himself, I like to think that he is a better man for it."

Mr. Shields has lately returned from a vacation and fishing trip in New Hampshire.

Pastor Fishing on Sabbath.

He went fishing on Sunday up there. As he tells it:

"My last came to me Sunday morning. 'Will you go fishing today,' Mr. Shields said. 'I wish I could, but I can't. I have a sermon to preach. I have a church to run. I have a people to feed. I have a world to save. I have a heaven to win. I have a hell to lose. I have a God to love. I have a soul to save. I have a life to live. I have a duty to do. I have a name to keep. BIG BATTLE FOUGHT NEAR TAKUSHAN-RESULT IN DOUBT

RUSSIAN DASH FROM PORT ARTHUR; JAPS BEATEN, 1,000 LOST

St. Petersburg's Reports Claim Crushing Blow to Mikado's Men in Daring Dash from beleaguered City by Gen. Stoessel.

Japanese Minister Has Dispatch at London That Confirms Rumor of General Engagement, but the Details Are Lacking

London, May 21.—Rumors of a general engagement between Japs and Russians, near Takushan are confirmed by reports from Tokio.

The result of the battle is not known, but it is thought that the combatants have come together in a mighty clash and the issue decided in no uncertain way.

Ramon Hayashi, the Japanese minister here, states that he has received a dispatch from Tokio, confirming the earlier rumors of a general engagement, and that it took place six miles north of Takushan. Further news the minister declared he was unable to give.

The first reports are said to have come from Russian sources, but were quite as indefinite as the reported confirmation. It is felt here that had the Russians been in possession of any details of a victory they would have quickly given them to the world. Lack of news, or perhaps another reverse to Russian arms, it is said, may retard the announcement of what is possibly the most sanguinary conflict of the war.

Lak Lan, north of which the battle is reported to have been fought, is at the head of Korea Bay, about forty miles west of Antung, at the mouth of the Yalu river. Thousands of Japanese troops were landed near Takushan, where the main army under General Kuraki was landing at the Yalu and beginning the campaign that soon precipitated the fighting at Kichienching.

There is a small road leading from Takushan northerly through Hwangchi to a junction at Fengwangcheng with the main road from Antung to Liaowang and Mukden.

The reported big battle comes on the heels of the St. Petersburg reports of the sortie by General Stoessel's men at Port Arthur and the defeat of the Japs at the north of the beleaguered city, with a loss of 1,000 men killed and wounded. According to the dispatches at the Russian capital, the Muscovites, without waiting for their slaughter, suled forth and dealt disaster and death to the Mikado's legions and with drew safely to the protection of the fort, losing only 116 killed and wounded.

The Russians combined their sortie with an escort to bring in a train of munitions and supplies, communication having been maintained by long telegraphy. The Japanese offered fight between the train and Stoessel's men, and the Russians promptly accepted the challenge, attacking the Japanese and routing them with heavy loss.

The Russians then took the train into Port Arthur, losing but 116 men killed and wounded. Early reports of the engagement were received to-day at St. Petersburg, and officials now claim they have been confirmed.

KUROPATKIN'S ARMY HEMMED IN BY JAPS

London, May 21.—The news of the dash against Mikado's men is regarded here as of considerable importance.

It is generally felt that the Japanese are rapidly closing their ranks, and that Kuropatkin's army is now hemmed in on three sides. The dispatches from the front are said to be of a very optimistic nature, and it is expected that the Russian capital will receive news of a victory in the near future.

TYPOS' UNION ADOPTS AND EDUCATES A LITTLE GIRL

Step Taken as Object Lesson Against Child Labor in Factories, Union Paying Wages Little One Had to Sacrifice

Two years ago there was a heated discussion in the Typographical Union Hall, Chicago, N. C., on the subject of child labor. The union members were divided on the issue, with some arguing that child labor was necessary for the survival of the union, and others arguing that it was morally wrong. The union eventually decided to adopt a little girl as a step taken as an object lesson against child labor in factories. The union is now paying the wages of the little girl, who is named Sarah. The union members are now educating Sarah, and she is now a member of the union. The union's decision was met with approval by the public, who had been complaining about child labor for some time.

SOCIETY WOMEN WHO OWE BEAUTY AND HEALTH TO PE-RU-NA

There Are a Million Women Now Ailing Who Should Remember That Pe-ru-na is an Infallible Specific for Spring Colds and Coughs, Lassitude and Nervousness Incident to the First Warm Weather.

MISS MARY E. JUDGE
220 RICHMOND ST. WEST
TORONTO, CAN.

Spring Time the Best Season of the Year to Treat Chronic Catarrh.

Notwithstanding that a Great Number of People Have Been Cured of Chronic Catarrh by Taking Pe-ru-na During the Past Cold Season.

Yet It Cannot Be Denied That the Cold, Wet, Stormy Weather Has Retarded Many Cures.

And, In Some Cases, Actually Prevented a Cure.

SPRINGTIME has come at last, and now is the time for all catarrh sufferers to begin a systematic course of treatment for this disease. The greatest difficulty in the way of treating chronic catarrh is that the patient is so liable to catch cold during the treatment and thus delay a cure. This liability at this season of the year is in a great measure removed, and so one should expect the opportunity to take treatment. Pe-ru-na is acknowledged by every one to be the only reliable and unfailing cure of catarrh wherever it may be located. When you take Pe-ru-na you are not experimenting with an unknown remedy.

MISS ELLEN CRAWLEY

CATARRH OF LUNGS

Is Generally the Result of Neglected Cold—Pe-ru-na Cures Coughs, Colds and Catarrh.

CATARRH of the lungs is, ordinarily, known as consumption; also called tuberculosis. In these cases the catarrh has usually found its way into the lungs by the gradual extension of the disease from the throat, through the bronchial tubes. Consumption is the medical termination of all cases of neglected chronic catarrh. Every one who is afflicted with chronic catarrh is liable to be attacked with consumption at any time. In the first stages of the disease Pe-ru-na is a sure cure, in the latter stages of the disease Pe-ru-na can be relied upon to produce great benefit, and in a large per cent of cases produce a permanent cure. All those afflicted with this dread disease should begin at once treatment with Pe-ru-na. A slight cough, which, without a twinge of doubt, would soon disappear with the use of Pe-ru-na, becomes a persistent cough for Pe-ru-na for some time. There are a great many cases of consumption every year due directly to a neglect of coughs, colds, and catarrh. Pe-ru-na had been kept in the house and used according to directions, would have been prevented.

MRS. V. B. CLAUDE, 19 North Eleventh Street, Newark, N. J., writes: "Pe-ru-na has done for me what nothing else could. I have been unable to sleep for some time. I found it truly wonderful. It simply found out every sick and ailing place in my body and within a week I was well. I used it about two weeks longer, and have been in perfect health since."—Mrs. V. B. Claude.

CATARRH OF LUNGS

There are a great many cases of consumption every year due directly to a neglect of coughs, colds, and catarrh. Pe-ru-na had been kept in the house and used according to directions, would have been prevented.

MRS. MARGHERT FAHEY, 49 Adams St., Troy, N. Y., writes: "We have used Pe-ru-na in our family for years and I am very pleased to say that it cured me of catarrh of the lungs when the doctors gave up all hope of my recovery. I used Pe-ru-na for six months and at the end of that time my cough had disappeared, my appetite was much better and I had gained ten pounds and looked the picture of health. I am in perfect health now and feel that Pe-ru-na got out of me all the catarrh. The best cure or preventative known to the medical profession up to date for catarrh in all its conditions is Pe-ru-na. During the uncertain weather of catarrh, it is an unnecessary hazard for any one to neglect to guard himself from taking disease, by taking Pe-ru-na."

MRS. VIOLA MARSHALL, 420 West Maple St., Springfield, Ill., writes: "Two months ago when I was suffering from systemic catarrh, I had gotten so bad that I could not bear the jolt of walking and had to lie down most of the time. I began taking your Pe-ru-na and now I feel like a new woman. I can walk just as far as I please without feeling any fatigue and I have taken only three bottles of Pe-ru-na not thanking Dr. Hartman for his kind advice."—Mrs. Viola Marshall.

Pe-ru-na is of national fame as a mucous membrane healer, whether it be the mucous membrane lining the nose, throat, lungs, stomach, kidneys or pelvic organs.

THE FIRST STAGE OF CATARRH.

A Serious Mistake Which Thousands Are Making.

THE first stage of catarrh is what is commonly known as "catching cold." It may be in the head, nose, throat or lungs. In the beginning it is sometimes so severe as to cause a chill and considerable fever, or it may be so slight as to not hinder a person from his usual business. In perhaps a majority of cases little or no attention is paid to the first stage of catarrh, and hence it is that nearly one-half of the people have chronic catarrh in some form.

To neglect a cold is to invite chronic catarrh. As soon as anyone discovers the first symptoms of catch cold he should at once begin the use of Pe-ru-na according to directions on the bottle, and the cold is sure to pass away without leaving any bad effects.

Unless this is done the cold is almost sure to end in the second stage of catarrh which is making so many lives miserable. If Pe-ru-na was taken every time one has a cold or cough chronic catarrh would be practically a unknown disease.

MISS LORETTA WALL, 250 N. Dale St., St. Paul, Minn., writes: "Last spring I had a very severe case of catarrh of the stomach and bowels. I took three bottles of Pe-ru-na and found myself gaining very quickly in weight."—Miss Loretta Wall.

MRS. M. J. B. CLAUDE, 19 North Eleventh Street, Newark, N. J., writes: "Pe-ru-na has done for me what nothing else could. I have been unable to sleep for some time. I found it truly wonderful. It simply found out every sick and ailing place in my body and within a week I was well. I used it about two weeks longer, and have been in perfect health since."—Mrs. V. B. Claude.

MRS. JUDITH J. P. BOYER, 523 Davis St., Evanston, Ill., says: "If any one has reason to praise Pe-ru-na it is surely myself. Last spring I became so run down from the serious effects of a lingering catarrh of the lungs, complications followed in pulling me down. I could neither eat nor sleep well and lost flesh and spirit. I finally tried Pe-ru-na and it did wonders for me. In two weeks I was like a new person, and in a month I felt better than I have ever done before. I thank Pe-ru-na for my new life and strength." If you do not desire prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

WE WILL GIVE

Double Green Trading Stamps

UNTIL 12 O'CLOCK

Every Day This Week

An Announcement which will arouse the liveliest interest among the shoppers of Greater Boston, as it is some five weeks since we last offered double stamps. The public must understand that, owing to the very low prices at which we sell goods, we can give double stamps only in rare instances. But a cold, backward Spring has left us with heavy stocks, and we wish to stimulate more active shopping at this time. As we now reform the Sperry & Hutchinson Stamps either in the regular premiums or in merchandise to the limit of $3.50 (at the purchaser's option), we trust the public will be quick to take advantage of this exceptional opportunity.

In redeeming Green Trading Stamp books in merchandise, we are working in the interest of our patrons and not for the benefit of our competitors. As some of the latter have shown a disposition to impose upon our generosity in this particular, we reserve the right to refuse redemption in certain classes of goods.

After 12 O'Clock Single Stamps Will Be Given This Week, as Usual

LEANDER: "A note? I don't remember any note."

3. LULU (reading aloud): "Thursday, My Dear Ducky Daddies: Meet me at the usual place to-night at 6 o'clock. Your own Sugar Plum."
LEANDER: "Why, Lulu, are you crazy?"

4. LULU: "You perfidious, base, traitorous wretch! At last I have found you out! Meet your Sugar Plum, eh? Go to her at once! GO! Never enter this house again!"

5. LULU: "Oh, how I hate you! I never want to see you again!"
LEANDER: "Geo whiz, Lulu! I knew there was some mistake. This isn't my hat at all. Look at the inside! I must have taken the wrong hat in the barber shop."

6. LEANDER: "Now see what you get for being so hasty! If you had only looked into the hat you would have seen the owner's name, C. J. Highroller."
LULU: "Oh, forgive me, pray forgive me, Leander. I will never, NEVER distrust you again!"
